The Future of Manufacturing

“The new era of manufacturing will be marked by highly agile, networked enterprises that use information and analytics as skilfully as they employ talent and machinery to deliver products and devices to diverse global markets” (McKinsey & Company, 2012)

“The world (needs to) integrate diverse sets of ideas, products and services globally through the lens of highly complex, integrated and self-morphing resource webs. Highly talented people are necessary to effectively and consistently apply cutting edge science and technology, systems thinking, smart services and processes, and supply chain excellence” (Deloitte, 2013)
